The letter must have an original signature and must be fully completed, signed and dated by authorized case management.

C. Clients whose check stubs show overtime pay may be required to provide additional check stubs or proof from the employer documenting the usual amount of overtime worked per pay period. When overtime is routine, all income earned in the prior thirty (30) days based on the check dates will be used to calculate eligibility. However, if the overtime is sporadic, the average pay for the prior three months may be used with management approval.

D. Gross income paid weekly, every other week, bi-monthly, or yearly will be converted to the appropriate gross monthly amount in the eligibility software system before the gross monthly income can be determined.

When converting countable gross income to gross monthly amounts, use the following conversion factors:

2. Gross income paid every other week: Multiply gross amounts received every other week by 2.17.
3. Gross income paid bi-monthly: Add gross amounts received twice a month.

E. Seasonal Workers (temporary employees, migrant workers, non-independent contract workers) - Gross income for the past twelve (12) months should be averaged over a twelve (12)-month period to determine monthly income. Income proof, such as a tax return, or check stubs must be provided, but may be up to twelve (12)-months old.

Any other income listed on the tax return (i.e. wages, pensions, unemployment compensation, Social security benefits, other income...) should be reviewed to determine if it is countable for purposes of eligibility determination and should be included in the monthly income calculation where appropriate.
3. If the countable self-employment income on client’s current IRS 1040/1040A Tax return has negative amount or zero amount, the current self-employment amount indicated on the application will be accepted as client’s self-employment income proof.

C. Monthly income is calculated by dividing annual income by twelve (12). If the income proof is provided for a period of less than twelve (12) months, the average monthly income will be determined by dividing the annual income by the number of months covered in the proof provided.
